ABOUT THE DUTCH PAVILION

The UK is the 3rd biggest export destination for Dutch agricultural products. 10% of all Dutch agri & food exports go to the UK, for a total value of 8.6 billion euros.

The UK food market offers ample opportunity for Dutch products that help meet challenges around an increasing demand for healthy, tasty and sustainable food through smart technologies. Therefore, at this year's Food Matters Live, the Dutch Pavilion is back to showcase innovative Dutch products that adhere to the highest food standards.

Companies that book a stand in the Pavilion will profit from the shared 'Holland Lounge' provided by the Dutch Embassy and from a complimentary Meet the Buyer package.

UK Market statistics show high demand for food and drink that serves the health and wellbeing and better-for-you categories.

The UK has 67.6 million consumers, who spend around 203 billion GBP a year on food and drink.

While UK consumers are price-conscious, market research shows a willingness to pay more for premium products.

Demand for innovation is strong, with the UK's 5 largest retailers featuring around 8,500 new products each year, according to market research by Mintel.
